Wrenbridge Shortlisted for National Property Company of the Year

Cambridge based UK property company, Wrenbridge Land, has been nominated for the National Property Company of the Year 2011. This follows the earlier success in the year of winning the Regional Property Company of the Year for the East of England and South East of England voted for by Estates Gazette readers.

Ben Coles, Chief Executive of Wrenbridge comments; “to be shortlisted for National Property Company of the Year is a real honour, and to be in the same list as British Land, Land Securities and The Crown Estate amongst others is even more of an honour”.

“The awards are announced in December so let’s try and do some more deals to give ourselves a better chance”.
